

Social and Personal.

THE most important event in the plans of the Young Women's Christian Association for the summer is the opening of the Country Club at 515 Fifth Avenue, Chestnut Hill, this evening from 6 to 10 o'clock.

The clubs and extension committees have been working vigorously to get things in order for the opening to day.

Plans have been made for a very pleasant social evening, and a number of Richmond artists will be heard in a musical program. The reception committee is to include Mrs. S. H. Lawes, Mrs. W. C. Johnson, Mrs. Beverly T. Crump, Mrs. B. G. Nelson, Mrs. Charles P. Lee, Mrs. J. H. Chapell, Miss Caille Corling, Miss Hattie Granling, Miss Cally Ryland and Miss Rose Kinser, who have been helped greatly in the work by the services of Mrs. C. E. Walcott, Mrs. S. M. Sherry, Miss Virginia Watson, Mrs. Chiles Ferrell, Mrs. J. Calvin Stewart, and many other interested friends, who have contributed furniture, labor and love to the success of the enterprise. John P. Branch made the first gift, and Mr. Sittlerding has very generously loaned the use of a large piece of land, which is one of the prettiest bits of wooded and rolling country in the suburbs. Certainly the young women who occupy so important a position in the commercial, industrial and professional life of the city deserve to have some of its delights, and this is what the women of the association will afford them through this country club.

The center will be open to all young women of the association, and young women will go out in groups for picnics, supper and games. There will be provision for tired girls who wish to spend the week-end at a reasonable cost in a cool spot. Miss Fleet is to be the matron, and Miss Haley, of Winston-Salem, who comes to Richmond on June 23, will be in charge of club affairs.

The Orange Club and the Glee Society Club will be especially interested in the outing. The croquet and other games have been arranged.

Mrs. Cadot will sing informally this afternoon from 5 to 7 some of the old songs, and in the evening from 8 to 10 Miss Grace Greenwood will sing. Herbert Taylor will be heard in a number of violin selections, with Miss Emma Brown playing the piano accompaniment.

Mrs. A. Belne Blair, Mrs. Charles O. Sallie and a number of others will assist the board of directors, and the committee for the afternoon in receiving guests, and a number of the younger members of the association will serve refreshments. It is hoped that the friends of the association will demonstrate their interest by attending and encouraging the women who have worked so hard to make the club a success.

To Sail on Mauretania.

Mrs. Julius A. Morris and her niece, Miss Elizabeth Kent King, will sail on June 15 aboard the steamer Mauretania for England, to be absent all summer.

At Atlantic City.

Dr. and Mrs. Clifton M. Miller are enjoying the pleasure of Atlantic City. Dr. Douglas Vanderhook left the city Monday to spend the week there, where he is also attending the annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

Dr. and Mrs. Beverly R. Tucker are among the Richmond contingent there for the week.

Wilson-Childs.

Mrs. Isabella Childs has issued invitations to the marriage of her daughter, Mary Belle, to Robert Wilson, of Keyville, Va., the wedding to be celebrated on Wednesday, June 23, at high noon, in the Christian Church at Louisa.

Myer-Gross.

In the first English Lutheran Church yesterday at 11 o'clock Miss Jennie Myer and George J. Gross, both of this city, were married by the Rev. J. J. Scherer. The bride wore a beautiful costume of white with large white hat, and carried a shower bouquet of roses. All decorations in the church were in green, with the white blossoms.

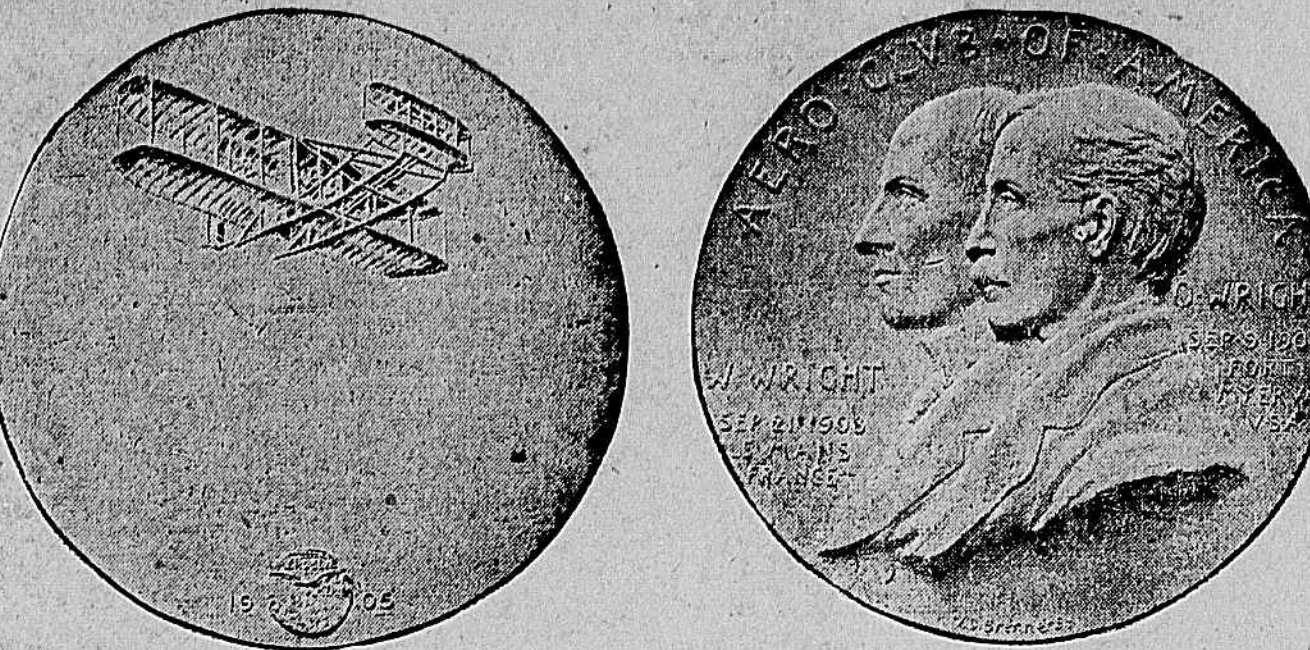

On account of the recent bereavement in the family of the bride the ceremony was witnessed by only the relatives and immediate friends of the families.

On their return from a bridal trip they will make their home in Richmond.

Levis-Hunter.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized at the residence of Rev. and Mrs. Joshua Soule Hunter Wednesday evening, when their daughter, Margaret, became the bride of Ivey Foreman Lewis. To the strains of the "Lohengrin" wedding march, rendered by Miss Mary Wright, the bride entered the parlors with her brother, R. Murray Hunter. The groom was accompanied by his brother, Kemp Lewis, as his best man, Master Reginald Dunn acted as page. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. S. Hunter, father of the bride, assisted by Dr. J. Wiley Bladson and Dr. W. H. Edwards. The bride was crowned in a lovely creation of white satin, with garnitures of lace and pearls. Her long tulle veil was caught with a large bow, and she carried a shower of lilies of the valley. The wedding was an exceedingly quiet one, only the immediate families being present. Among the guests from a distance were Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Lewis, Miss Nellie Battle Lewis, of Raleigh, C. Kemp Lewis, of Durham, N. C.; Mr. Richard, of Oxford, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. William M. Dunn, and Masters Hunter, Roy and Reginald Dunn, of Gordonsville, Va. Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Lewis left for the North. After September 15 they will be at home in Ashland, Va., where Dr. Lewis is professor of biology in Randolph-Macon College.

Wed Yesterday.

A beautiful wedding took place near Castlewood, Va., yesterday, at "Walrose," the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Walter Dickenson, when they gave their daughter, Eva, in marriage to Stephen Richard Jennings, of Johnston City, Tenn. The ceremony took place at 1 o'clock, Rev. C. C. Fisher, the bride's uncle, officiating.

The bride had an attractive representative of the Dickenson family, prominent in Southwest Virginia since the early pioneer days, and she is much admired by her wide circle of friends. Miss Anna Dickenson attended her as maid of honor.

The groom is prominent in business and social circles. He was attended by his best man, Fred Johnson, of Johnston City.

Mrs. Joseph A. Sechler, of Chilhowie, Va., played the wedding march from "Lohengrin." Mrs. Sechler was a fellow-graduate with the bride from Sullins College a few years ago.

Before the ceremony the bride's uncle, Arthur T. Earnest, sang "Be-cause," and Miss Mary Garden, of Bristol, "Calin As the Night." The spacious parlors of "Walrose" were filled with a representative gathering of relatives and friends, the rooms being decorated with a profusion of sweetpeas, roses and other blossoms, interwoven in artistic combination of pink and green. The same scheme was carried out in the halls, and in the dining-room banks of palms and evergreens on the mantel made a pretty background for the flowers.

The maid of honor wearing a charming gown of green messaline, preceded the bride, who entered on the arm of her father. She wore an exquisite wedding gown of broadened satin, made empire, with pearl trimmings, and her tulle veil was caught with handsome diamond crescent, the groom's gift.

After the ceremony the bride and groom proceeded to the dining-room, where the bride's cake was cut.

Mr. and Mrs. Jennings left for a transcontinental trip westward to Los Angeles, via Denver, thence up the Pacific coast to visit friends in Vancouver, and back East over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Her going-away gown was of tan Rajah silk, with accessories to match. Among the unique and original presents which the couple received was an heirloom in the form of a silver spoon, made from the knee-buckles of a Revolutionary ancestor of the bride's.

Guests at Wedding.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carter and Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Johnson, of Johnson City, Tenn.; Mrs. Eva T. Earnest, of Johnson City; James Wilkinson, of Hillsville, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Sidney Higginbotham, of Tazewell, Va.; Miss Mace Duff, of Lebanon, Md.; Miss Brinson, of Waycross, Ga.; Miss Mary Garden, of Chattanooga; Misses Enlie Kendrick and Mary Summers, of Bristol; Messrs. A Western Romance.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

WINCHESTER, VA., June 10.—In its issue of June 5 the Daily News, of Lamar, Col., contains an interesting account of the marriage in that city of Miss Charlotte B. Latham, daughter of the late Arthur Latham, of Winchester, to Stanley E. Veld, a mining engineer, of Boston, Mass. The bride and groom left on their honeymoon, going by rail to Chihuahua, Mexico, and there will take mules for the remainder of the trip, 120 miles in the interior. The trip will occupy six or seven days and will be through perilous mountain roads, until they reach that portion of Old Mexico where Mr. Veld is stationed as a mining engineer. The bride and her husband first met in El Paso, Texas, where she had visited on a visit, and the romance then started culminated in the wedding last Saturday. Mrs. Veld's brother, Robert Latham, who is connected with the Santa Fe Railroad, prevailed upon her to come to Lamar from Winchester and be married in that city. She left Winchester the latter part of May, and Mr. Veld reached Lamar on Friday preceding the wedding.

The ushers were Les Lumpkin and Roland Marks.

The bride was attired in cream chiffon messaline silk, with hat and gloves to match. The bridesmaids wore white. Mr. and Mrs. Lumpkin will reside at Ream's Fork, where the groom conducts a mercantile business.
